The European Commission, DG XII, has recently published an information brochure on the Environment and Climate Programme advanced study courses to be held in 1999.

The brochure includes an introduction to the advanced study courses and lists previous courses run through the programme, plus detailed descriptions of this year's courses. A brief listing of the advanced study courses available in 1999 can be found in the previous CORDIS article "Advanced study courses feature oceans, climate, and environment" (RCN 11954).
