

Figure 1: The basic concept of experimental study on adaptive coordination networks – formation of metal-organic template and its hierarchical decoration by Ni atoms (left) and representative STM image of highly adaptive metal-organic coordination network on Au(111) surface (right).