Project description

Pursuing research excellence in management and economics of R&I

The new pact and governance for the European Research Area (ERA) and the need for a set of principles and values reaffirming ethics, freedom of scientific research, gender equality and equal opportunities in R&I, the increased free circulation of researchers and knowledge and the engagement of citizens need specific attention. The determinants of R&I productivity and the role and efficiency of R&I funding are also important. The EU-funded TWIN4MERIT project will examine these meta-research areas through twinning with two advanced partners, Maastricht University and University Carlos III of Madrid, to advance the research activities at the University of Cyprus. With the participation of the European Office of Cyprus, this knowledge exchange is expected to further expand to the research community of Cyprus as a whole.
